

Supportive Measures for Students

The Civil Rights/Title IX Coordinator can provide various supportive measures to address the short-term effects of harassment, discrimination, and/or retaliation. These measures aim to help the affected parties and the community and to prevent further violations.

Health and Counseling Referrals

- Students can be referred to the Wilcox Health Center for medical support.
- Counseling services are available to help students cope with emotional stress.

No Contact Orders

No Contact Orders can be issued to limit or prevent contact between the involved parties, ensuring safety and peace of mind.

Academic and Work Accommodations

- Adjustments to academic or work schedules and assignments can be made to reduce stress and ensure a safe environment.
- This might include changes in class schedules, assignment deadlines, or work shifts.

Living Arrangements

Changes to living arrangements can be made to ensure the comfort and safety of the students involved.

Campus Escorts

Campus escorts can be provided to ensure safe travel across the campus, particularly during times of heightened concern.

Academic Adjustments

Adjustments to academic deadlines, course schedules, and other academic requirements can be offered to help students manage their workload during difficult times.

Increased Security

Security measures can be increased in certain areas of the campus to ensure the safety of the students and the community.

Community Education

Educational programs can be provided to the community to raise awareness and prevent future incidents of harassment, discrimination, and retaliation.

Other Measures

The supportive measures are not limited to the ones listed above. Additional measures may be implemented based on the specific needs and circumstances of the students involved.
